Charts of the Week

Oil Edges Higher to Head for Weekly Climb as Debt Talks in Focus: Oil edged higher to head for a modest weekly gain as investors tracked progress in talks to avoid a US default and the dollar eased. WTI traded above USD 72 a barrel after slumping more than 3% on Thursday. Republican and White House negotiators were moving closer to an agreement to raise the debt limit, according to people familiar with the matter. Still, the details agreed to are tentative and a final accord is not yet in hand. Supply dynamics remained in Russia's Deputy Prime focus. Minister Alexander Novak said Thursday OPEC+ wasn't likely to take further measures at the gathering in Vienna in June.

China Warnings Flash Across Global Markets as Growth Disappoints: China's rebound muted economic and Beijing's reluctance to deploy large-scale stimulus are reverberating around the globe, crushing commodity prices and weakening equity markets. Investors are pegging back their expectations for the world's second-biggest economy as worries mount that its recovery from pandemic restrictions has lost momentum. Recent data suggest gross domestic product growth this year will be closer to the government's target of about 5%.

UK Price Shock Sends Bond Yields to Levels Last Seen Under Truss: UK bond yields are back to where they were when Liz Truss was in No. 10 after a shocking inflation report underscored the need for much tighter monetary policy. The inflation rate came in higher than all economists forecast — sending wagers on future interest-rate hikes soaring and lifting vields to levels last seen when the former Prime Minister rattled markets with unvetted mini-budget. The rate on 10-year securities now pays a premium of more than 50 basis points over equivalent US notes, around the biggest seen in more than a decade.
